- Added three most recent meetings to regular TV schedule.

Fire Department: Still in progress with a training highlight video.
Moving Forward with Bastrop City Manager:  (Still pending) We were approached by the show’s host, Bonnie Coffee, about doing a ‘wrap up’ episode with Mike. I am open to whatever we decide on this but I would very much like to discuss the future of a program that summarizes the city’s business and activities.

BP&L Power Pole/Flood Damage Project:  (Pending) We took extensive video and photo coverage of this project. The idea was we would interview either Mike, Mike & Curtis, or some other city official to describe this extensive project and what all went into it. This project has been on the shelf due to the focus being on other issues but I would really like to get this project out there added to the whole conversation about flooding and repairs to show that the city was effected as intensely as anyone.

Progressive Waste Solutions: As reported last week, we had some additional shooting and interviewing to produce before a final product could be edited together. As of this Monday, we have shot those final pieces and have begun editing together what will be a comprehensive story about Progressive Waste and their services here in Bastrop.

Bastrop Chamber of Commerce: We are working with the Bastrop Chamber of Commerce to produce a video to bring attention to the business community. In the long days of Summer some of the retail and other business types are experiencing a “quiet” time in the traffic they are seeing come through the door. We are working with our interns (Chris White and Araceli “Cici” Cortina) to ‘tour’ several fun locations. The Chamber has hired us for this production.
